Contextual Link Building

Contextual link building is a powerful new alternative to traditional link building tactics. A contextual link is created by writing a keyword rich article that include an embedded link(s) to your website. The article is then published on a website that matches the exact theme of your website. Best of all, an entire website page is dedicated to your article! This means that that are no other links on the page but yours. Once the article is "live", 10-15 backlinks are created to the article to ensure it acquires PR in due course of time.

Key Features:

- Creation of article based on your website theme with one or two links back to the site with relevant anchor text. One link per domain, all from different c-classes/different IP's.
- The links are thematic links and are considered more relevant because they are placed on a website that matches the exact theme of your website and most importantly, there is no other links on the page - so the entire page is solely for your link. All links are high quality, targeted links.
- Usability studies suggest users are clicking more links in the content than in the navigation bars of a website, thus driving more relevant traffic to your website.
- Once the article is posted on the webmasters site, we build 10-15 backlinks to the article to ensure it acquires page rank in due course time.
- Contextual links are permanent.

Package	Number of Links	Page Rank	Price	Timeframe (in weeks)	Monthly Recurring Price

Social Bookmarking

Social bookmarking submission has developed into a powerful tool for SEO experts. It involves linking sites within the various forums, blogs and message boards on social networking websites, blog sites and content centric sites like Digg. Considered a better alternative to submitting a website on blogs, manual social bookmarking is a simple, convenient and hassle-free way of making sure that your site is noticed and marketed in the right circle.

Google and other major search engines have decided to go content-centric; the more places you have your content, the more traffic you generate. Submitting your site manually with social bookmarking sites like Digg, blogthis!, orkut, and myspace will ensure a heavier volume of relevant traffic. Our constant endeavour is to serve sites with well-researched and well-directed traffic by our bookmarking submission.

Our team ensures that every site is first indexed for the intended target audience, so only sites with a suitable page rank and pedigree are selected. All links are strictly one-way and permanent. Our service is tuned in to the ever-changing world of search engine optimization. With the implementation of context-sensitive search algorithms and with the advent of more personalized search results for users, submission of your site contents to a social bookmarking site is no longer a matter of trial and error.

Each bookmarking site has its own pros and cons, and it takes meticulous planning and research before one can consider submitting his/her site content to a social bookmarking service. From the most basic press release to more complex articles, all site content is examined and then the appropriate site is determined for submission. To top it all, since all bookmarking sites require registration, there is no way that any spam links can be generated to or from your site.
